

PHONE COMPANY
PLANS TO SPEND
$45,000.00 HERECouncil Grants Permission to Rebuild Many City Lines.

Manager Louis Pitcher appeared before the city council in its regular session last evening, and made known the fact that the Dixon Home Telephone Company contemplates improvements in equipment in this city amounting to approximately $45,000. The council unanimously granted the petition of the company to rebuild telephone lines upon certain streets and alleys in the city.

Manager Pitcher explained that in the proposed construction work, the company will place cables underground with one or two distributing poles, in extreme cases perhaps more will be required, to each block of the territory served, placing cables, conduits, manholes, poles in the parking between the curb and sidewalk, thereby obviating the disturbing of the pavement to as great a degree as is possible.

On East Commercial alley the company proposed to use aerial cable and poles as this alley is paved between the property lines and the paving will not be disturbed as only a small cable will be required.

The improvement which will greatly increase the efficiency of the service to the patrons of the company, will be started in the spring just as soon as the frost is out of the ground so as to provide for the necessary excavation on the subway system. It is expected that no less than 40,000 feet of cable, which will carry from 10 to 650 pairs of wires, will be laid thus relieving the aerial wiring which has been in service many years. The improvement will cost approximately $45,000.

The list of streets and alleys in the city, on which the company was granted permission to change their system, were the following:

On North Galena Avenue from the south end of the bridge across Rock River to Chamberlain street.

On Chamberlain Street from Up-lam Place to Boardman Place.

CANDIDATE

City Commissioner Frank D. Palmer of the department of finances, this morning announced his candidacy for the office of mayor of the city of Dixon, subject to the primaries early next spring. His is the first announcement to be made for this office, which has been a subject of more or less discussion for some time past.

Commissioner Palmer has served the city of Dixon as head of the department of public finances for four years. The condition of this department at the present time is said to be better than at any other time in the history of the city, which speaks for his ability. The Commissioner is not a radical but conservative in his ideas of city management.

PRESIDENT NEWBERRY
OF SANDUSKY CEMENT
CO. DIED SUDDENLYChief of Company Owning
Dixon Plant Died Yesterday.

A message this afternoon from Cleveland, Ohio, to W. E. Wuerth, Superintendent of the Dixon plant of the Sandusky Portland Cement company, stated that Mr. Newberry was driving to his office from his home in Cleveland yesterday morning, alone in his car, when he apparently fell suddenly ill and drove his car slowly to the curb in the downtown section. A policeman noticed him and upon investigation found him unconscious in the seat. He was removed to a hospital but died within a short time. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Spencer B. Newberry, President and General Manager of the Sandusky Portland Cement Company, of which the Dixon cement plant is a part, died suddenly yesterday. Mr. Newberry was well known to many people in Dixon. He originally "discovered" the limestone deposits along the river here and developed them for the purposes of cement manufacture and has made many visits to this city. The news of his death was received yesterday evening by W. E. Wuerth, Superintendent of the Dixon plant.

The news of Mr. Newberry's death was entirely unexpected. A week ago he was in Chicago and acted as chairman of a convention of cement manufacturers and read a paper before the convention.

Mr. Newberry was one of the pioneers in the development of the manufacture of Portland cement. A former professor of chemistry at Cornell University in Ithica, N. Y., he became interested in the development of new processes in this industry and became internationally known as an expert authority, with his articles on the subject translated into many languages. His death is a great loss to the industry as well as bringing sorrow to his many personal friends and business acquaintances here and elsewhere.

The dispatch informing Mr. Wuerth of Mr. Newberry's death was brief and contained no details.

FRANCE ANNOUNCES
POLICY ON GERMAN
REPARATION MATTERLausanne Conference Is Shocked By Execution of Greek Leaders.

Paris, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The French ministerial policy toward Germany as incorporated in the plan for occupation of the Ruhr industrial district and control of the Rhineland, appears to be based upon three primary ideas:

The government must satisfy the French people that the German obligations toward France are not to be allowed to drift indefinitely without government action.

The French government by its patience and its repeated delays will show Great Britain and America and neutral countries that it has not acted hastily or imperially.

That if during the next six or eight weeks there should be no prospect of any workable plans of payments being adopted by Germany alone, or with the assistance of allied or neutral countries, then France will be compelled to act.

Cabinet Approves

The cabinet generally approved the plan yesterday but did not take a vote for the given reason that there is no occasion to act immediately.

Two principal reasons are given by Lucien Chassaing, foreign editor of Le Journal for the government's drafting a plan for direct action. It was imperative, he said, for France to answer "the provocative attitude" of Chancellor Cuno of Germany, which confirmed the French belief that Germany does not intend to pay if she can avoid it.

Some papers, however, disregard the foreign office's denial and deal editorially with the plan as a settled policy.

NO HASTY ACTION

Paris, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The French government is not even ready to act against Germany in the event of delays in future reparations payments, the Parisien says today. France, adds the paper, has no intention of taking the slightest initiative before consulting the allies. No decision regarding methods of coercion was reached at yesterday's cabinet meeting, the newspaper declares.

The L'Elain gathered similar information together with a denial that the cabinet had approved of a plan drawn up for the occupation of the Ruhr.

Lausanne, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—The Lausanne conference is excited by news of the execution of the former Greek minister in Athens. The information generally cast a gloom over the various delegations.

The great importance of the questions to be decided here is testified by the tense atmosphere of the conference. The delegates are living under a nervous strain.

Correspondents find great difficulty in getting the facts, which results in wild speculation. The official communiques are meagre. Salient facts are carefully omitted.

The question of the Turkish frontiers has been held up because leaders are endeavoring to sidetrack dangerous alterations in the official statements by seeking general lines of an agreement at private talks.

BRITAIN BALKS

London, Nov. 29.—(By the Associated Press)—Great Britain will scrap no more war ships under the Washington disarmament treaty until the other nations have taken action and scrapped their quota, according to a assurance given a questioner in the house of commons today by Eyres Monsell, financial secretary to the admiralty.

Washington, Nov. 29.—Thanksgiving weather will be generally fair east of the Mississippi River, except for probable local snows along the Canadian border from the lower lakes eastward, according to today's forecast. Rise in temperature tonight and tomorrow in most of the region east of the Mississippi was predicted.

Much colder weather is reported in the northwest, while in the upper Mississippi valley and upper lakes region the weather is becoming warmer.

Federal Reserve
Warns Against Rising Prices

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 29.—Continued growth in business in the 8th federal reserve district is noted in the monthly report of the St. Louis Federal Reserve Bank issued today. While prices were advanced in many lines buying has been on a greater scale. Apprehension is felt, however, the report stated, that this buying activity will decrease if prices continue to rise.

Increased price of farm products were reported.

CLEMENCEAU TO LAY
WREATH ON LINCOLN
TOMB IN SPRINGFIELDFrench Statesman Rests in Chicago Today Prior to Tour.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Georges Clemenceau halted his appeals for American friendship for France today to rest in preparation for his tour Thursday. He remained until 9 o'clock, an hour past his usual bedtime, despite the strain of his speech at the Auditorium.

He was up shortly after dawn. It was expected he would spend the day receiving a few callers and in making an automobile tour of the city. He read with interest comments of yesterday's speech, in which he declared that while France was seeking only peace, war was being forced upon her.

M. Clemenceau said he waited to return to the Auditorium tonight and hear the Chicago Civic Opera Company's presentation of the "Snow Maiden."

Tomorrow morning he will go to Springfield, Ill., to lay a wreath on Lincoln's tomb. From there he will go to St. Louis, Mo., where he speaks tomorrow night and then to Washington.

While Clemenceau rested, thousands reviewed the salient points of his speech yesterday, his plea for peace and the preservation of France.

A copy of what Clemenceau termed a certified official report of the allied commission of military control on hidden war material unearthed in Germany shared in the attention.

The theme of "The Tiger's" address was taken from the epitaph on General Grant's tomb in New York, "Let us have peace," which he read last week.

"Peace Has Arisen"
Peace has arisen, he declared, and it is now "our mission, to convince autocratic power it should get behind our cause." The spirit that moves the world—truth, justice, liberty and right—should be achieved, he said.

Quoting from what he termed an official report on unearthed war materials in Germany, Clemenceau stated that it clearly showed why France felt a large army must be maintained.

Thousands of rifles, pistols, cartridges, parts of guns, field telephone wire and quantities of other war materials dug up in forty-five separate instances since July 15, 1921 were mentioned in the report.

Local Students
Get Vacation

Dixon grade school children and high school students will have four days of Thanksgiving vacation this week. No classes will be held Thursday or Friday, with Saturday and Sunday as regular added holidays.

Individual exercises on the occasion of Thanksgiving will be held in the various grades. No general program will be held in the high school.

Thanksgiving
Proclamation

The Pilgrim Fathers, when their harvest had been gathered, out of gratitude to the Giver of All Good Things, set apart a day to be devoted to thanksgiving and praise. Thursday, November 30th, 1922, has been designated by our President for this purpose, therefore let us all observe that day with the same spirit which animated our forefathers.

SELL GLANDS OF WIFE MURDERER
AFTER HANGINGFew Witnesses to the Hanging of James Mahoney.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Walla Walla, Washington, Nov. 29.—Only those persons required by law will witness the hanging Friday of James E. Mahoney, convicted wife murderer, at the state penitentiary, according to Warden John W. Pace. Mahoney's only hope of a stay lies with the Supreme Court of the United States. He was convicted of murdering his wealthy, aged bride, Kate Moore Mahoney. Her body was recovered from a trunk at the bottom of Lake Union.

SELL MURDERER'S GLANDS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Seattle, Washington, Nov. 29.—The glands of James E. Mahoney, who is to be hanged Friday for wife murder, are for sale to the highest bidder according to Walla Walla dispatches. The prison physician, says the dispatch has offered the glands, setting $1,000 as a minimum bid and declaring them a bargain because the doomed man was in perfect physical condition. The glands, if sold, will be transferred immediately after death.

Noted Singer Here
Wednesday, Dec. 6

The music critic of Canner L. Eclair du Salt has this to say of Luella Melius the following day after she appeared in Opera in the role of "Lakme."

"Twice the 'Bell Song' was interrupted by cheers and the ovation broke loose at its close was so deafening and prolonged that the young artist herself had to compel its cessation. Her intonation is perfect, each tone ringing with the individuality of a silver bell; her scales are flawless and of tremendous agility. A veritable cascade of beauty. Her climaxes were vivid in their intensity with a surpassing crescendo, her high F in the second act revealing no trace of effort."

Chicago, Nov. 29.—Miss Mary Gindick, 18 year old freshman at Northwestern University, today is a class A swimmer, despite the fact that she is minus an arm and a leg and only recently entered swimming classes. Coach Robinson announced.

After ten lessons she swam 25 yards and now is among the best in her division.

THANKSGIVING
GAME WILL BE
A HOT CONTESTSpring Valley Coming Here Strong and Loaded.

Partially recovered from injuries received in last Sunday's game at Elgin which marked the first defeat of the season, the Dixon Legion football team will clash with the Spring Valley Wildcats in another hard fought game at the Brown Field tomorrow. The visitors with an aggregation of about 250 fans and a brass band will arrive in Dixon tomorrow morning on a special train, according to word received today from Spring Valley.

The game will be the big Thanksgiving day attraction in Dixon and should draw a record crowd. The Wildcats have a hard fighting and fast plugging team of heavyweights, who have met and defeated the best independent teams in northern Illinois this season.

The Dixon Legion band will be on hand and will furnish a short program preceding the game. The lineup of the teams will be as follows:

Dixon Legion—Countryman, re.; Moore, rt.; Gardner, rg.; Dixon, c.; Austin, lg.; Garvey, lt.; Risley, lb.; Whippleberg, qb.; Dalton, rrb.; Vaughan, lrb.; Heinze, fb.

Spring Valley Wildcats—Chido, re.; Perino, rt.; Ryceck, rg.; Dolg, c.; Kudela, lg.; Swanson, lt.; Rushusky, lb.; Covany, qb.; Morrison or Fehr, rrb.; Clumott or Riani, lrb.; Actis, fb.

Ask Aid for Dixon
Hospital at Union
Service Tomorrow

Yesterday's paper contained the full program for tomorrow's celebration, as arranged by Pastor Unangst. In this issue will be found a timely statement by our Mayor, except where other meetings have been appointed, that will preserve and honor the spirit of the day, every church in the city should be fully represented in this ten-thirty service in Grace Evangelical church.

Let everybody be prepared also for a liberal contribution for the Public Hospital. Miss Young reports that the funds thus obtained heretofore have been applied toward maintenance of the free bed for the needy. Thirty dollars was last year's offering, which cannot be considered very large, in comparison with the worthy purpose. Would One Hundred Dollars be too much this year?

Grains Firm Today on Foreign News

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 29.—Gresh upturns in the values in wheat took place today during the early dealings, unfavorable harvest conditions in Argentina being reported and the Liverpool market showing further gains. Besides, new export business by way of the Gulf of Mexico was noted. Bulls made capital, too, of assertions that although the domestic winter crop outlook had been helped by recent rains, the acreage was likely to prove the smallest since 1916 and the conclusion remaining low in the December government report. The opening which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 higher, with May 1.16 1/2 to 1.17 1/2 and July 1.07 1/2 to 1.08 1/2, was followed by material gains.

Subsequently, Argentine dispatches telling of disappointing yields and quality were a handicap to bears, but were partly offset by selling to even accounts before the holiday tomorrow. The close was firm, 3/4 to 1/2 net higher, with May 1.17 1/2 to 1.18 1/2 and July 1.08 1/2 to 1.09 1/2.

Corn and oats sympathized with the wheat advance. After opening unchanged to 1/2 higher, May 70 1/2 to 70 3/4, the corn market sagged a little and then scored a moderate general upturn.

Liquidating sales of December by holders who were unwilling to accept delivery had some tendency later to check the advance. The close was unsettled, 1/2 to 3/4 net higher, with May 70 1/2 to 71.

Oats started 1/4 to 1/2 off, at 4 1/2 to 4 3/4, later, all deliveries were above yesterday's finish. Higher quotations of hogs gave a lift to provisions.

SMALL APPOINTS COMMITTEE FOR NEW MINE LAWS

Investigation Committee Expected to Make Suggestions.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 29.—Governor Len Small today appointed the Illinois Mining Investigating Committee representing the public, mine owners and coal miners, to recommend mining legislation to the next general assembly. He also named Francis L. Devlin of West Frankfort and Patrick Gillen of Springfield, as mine officers in the state department of mines and minerals.

The two new mine officers succeed William Hutton of Duquoin, whose term expired, and James Richards of Belleville, who resigned.

The mining investigating committee is appointed each session of the legislature to recommend mine laws. Three members representing the public as named by the governor today will be D. A. Fuller, Belleville, Thomas Hudson, Galva, and Joseph Francis, Morris.

Those representing the mine owners will be Herman Perry, Hillsboro; George W. Solomon, Springfield; and A. B. McLaren, Marion; and the three representing the miners will be Charles Melvin, Duquoin; Joseph Somers, Zeigler, and Peter Grant, Peoria.

RECEIVED GIVEN LAST EVENING AT SLOTHOWER HOME.

Last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Slothower, their daughter, Miss Marjorie Slothower gave a reception, the event proving one of the most enjoyable of the season.

There were about fifty guests in attendance, everyone thoroughly enjoying the evening of music.

The Slothower home was gay with fragrant carnations and roses in profusion, with ferns and palms.

Miss Slothower gave two groups of songs, displaying the strength and beauty of her voice to excellent effect. Her singing is always greatly enjoyed. She sings with much expression.

Miss Hazel Hecker pleased greatly with several splendid readings and Miss Miriam Slothower contributed two piano solos to the program which were the source of a great deal of pleasure.

One of the features of the evening was the singing of Ralph Leo, of Chicago, who gave several solos, to the great enjoyment of all. He is a favorite in Dixon and his beautiful voice was heard to good advantage last evening.

After the program the hostess and her mother served tempting refreshments, concluding the happy evening with a pleasant social hour.

TO DINE AT FLOYD CHAPMAN HOME.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McAllister of Sycamore, and Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Martin of this city will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Chapman at dinner Thanksgiving day.

Mother of Slain Girl on Stand in Colorado Trial

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Greeley, Colo., Nov. 29.—The hammer with which the prosecution contends Bert J. Lowe, Greeley insurance agent, might have used to slay Edna Fern Skinner of Bloomington, Ill., for whose death Lowe is being tried on a charge of murder, was introduced in the evidence at the trial here today.

It was exhibited during the testimony of C. A. Myers, a carpenter, who was called to repair the kitchen after the fire there which the state charges was caused by Lowe after he killed Miss Skinner. Myers asserted he found the hammer in a coal scuttle.

Dr. Thomas E. Atkins, Greeley physician, who examined the girl's body at the time of her death, declared wounds on her head were not, in his opinion, inflicted by blows from a blunt instrument. Atkins was called as a witness for the prosecution, but made this statement under cross examination by the defense.

MOTHER ON STAND.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Greeley, Colo., Nov. 29.—Mrs. J. J. Skinner, of Leroy, Ill., mother of Miss Edna Fern Skinner, school teacher, alleged to have been slain by Bert J. Lowe in his home here, July 2, last, was scheduled to take the witness stand when Lowe's trial was resumed in the district court today.

Mrs. Skinner was expected to testify regarding Lowe's behavior when he brought the girl's body to Bloomington, Ill., for burial. At that time Mrs. Skinner suspected the circumstances surrounding her daughter's death and came to Greeley, insisting upon an investigation.

Others expected to take the stand today are D. E. Barrett, Greeley undertaker, who prepared the body for shipment; Clarence Law, of Winsor, Colo., who was betrothed to Miss Skinner; and Frank Hall, sheriff of Weld county. Law and Hall are expected to tell of conversations with Lowe after Miss Skinner's death.

PREDICT SHIP BILL WILL GO OVER SAFELY

Democrats Filibuster Today on Anti-Lynching Bill.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 29.—The administration ship bill to extend government aid to American shipping was passed today by the house. The vote on final passage was 208 to 184 with two voting present.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 29.—The house eliminated from the shipping bill today the Edmonds amendment relating to the sale of liquor on American ships—thereby striking out of the measure all reference to liquor carrying or selling.

A democratic motion to recommit the bill was defeated 215 to 172 after which the house began a roll call vote on the bill's passage.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 29.—Republican leaders predicted passage of the administration shipping bill by a comfortable margin when the house proceeded to a final vote, not later than 4 p. m. today.

Although several changes in the bill were adopted yesterday, all were offered by Republicans, and rejection of nearly two score amendments offered by Democrats sustained confidence of a safe margin.

Important among the changes voted yesterday was an amendment necessitating authorization by congress each year of payments from the merchant marine fund to operators of American ships, this being viewed not only as doing away with a permanent appropriation, but also affording a check on expenditures. Other amendments adopted would exclude from receiving government aid concerns operating ships for their own benefit, except where they transported cargoes of other shippers; withhold government aid for all voyages on which liquor was carried, and reduce from 1,000 to 500 gross tons the minimum tonnage for sailing vessels eligible for government aid.

DEMOCRATS FILIBUSTER.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 29.—The senate faced another merry day of filibuster today, the Democrats having frankly proclaimed a determination to continue obstruction to prevent action on the Dyer Anti-Lynching bill, which the Republicans held the threat of a Thanksgiving day session over their heads to break the opposition. These were the tactical positions upon which the two sides entrenched yesterday, with the Republicans voting in caucus to continue the fight in behalf of the bill after the Democrats had announced the object of a relentless program of obstruction, was to compel abandonment of the Dyer bill.

ANOTHER DIXON CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Dixon Folks.

Just another report of a case in Dixon. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Dixon with Doan's Kidney Pills.

Lewis Bartholomew, 914 Chestnut Ave., Dixon, says: "Thrashing is the hardest kind of work and jarring when riding over the roads was hard on my kidneys, back and bladder. Many times I could hardly stand to ride on the engine and if I happened to be jarred, sharp pains cut through my kidneys that felt like knife-thrusts. The kidney secretions passed several times at night and I had to get up often. I used several boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they gave me such good results that I am not bothered now. I always keep Doan's on hand and use them occasionally to keep my kidneys and bladder in good condition."

Such Is Life

"Eighteen years ago I had three ribs broken, fourteen years ago my right leg; eleven years ago I nearly went over with typhoid fever and since then have had awful stomach and liver trouble. Was filled with gas most all the time. I would have colic attacks so bad as to become unconscious. No medicine helped me and doctors advised an operation. One day talking with a stranger he recommended Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which helped me at once." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. For sale at all druggists.—Adv.

HEROIC WOMAN SAVED ALL BUT TWO OF HER CLASS OF 40 PUPILS

in Flames in Georgia School Fire.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Covington, Ga., Nov. 29.—Two dead and 38 injured was the toll in the burning of the High Point Community school house yesterday when the structure, containing 99 children was destroyed by fire. A check today showed all others had been accounted for.

The dead were James Steele, son of John J. Steele, and the eight year old son of Charles Bachelor.

These pupils were in the room of Mrs. Oscar Grant, who heroically stood by the window and dropped forty children to the ground before the floor of her room gave way and she was engulfed in flames. She was unable to save the two boys.

Several of the children suffered broken limbs as the result of the 20 foot drop.

SEARCHING RUINS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Covington, Ga., Nov. 29.—Search was continued today in the debris of the burned High Point Community School house for the bodies of children reported missing, following a fire yesterday which destroyed the building and cost, according to school officials, the lives of three children burned fifteen seriously and painfully injured thirty-five. One teacher was also seriously burned.

Practically all of the children were under ten years of age. Yesterday 99 children were present.

"Oh look at the pretty white dust," exclaimed one child, in the room of Mrs. Oscar Grant on the second floor.

"Dust" was smoke. It came from the direction of the door, the single egress from the room. Mrs. Grant ran to the door and found the hallway in flames, the stairs crumpled.

Inside were forty children, too young to exercise calm judgment. Mrs. Grant locked the door, calmly walked to the window and told the children to line up. The ground was 20 feet below. The drop meant injury, but to stay meant death.

The teacher pushed her own child, Mary Pearl, back from the window and then began lowering the other children. By the time thirty or more forms had been dropped to the ground the flames had entered the room and licked rapidly towards the window. Mary Pearl Grant was next in line. Her mother threw her bodily out of the window. The child has burns, a fractured leg and internal injuries.

Choking Mrs. Grant reached back. She grasped another girl and hurled her down. Three more children remained but the flames engulfed them. Mrs. Grant said she jumped into the fire to save them, her clothing caught afire and with flames leaping towards her head she hurled herself out of the window.

She is suffering from burns, a fractured limb and internal injuries. Only five of the children dropped escaped injuries.

Funeral Party to Rescue
A funeral party passing the school discovered smoke pouring from the windows. The procession was halted, the hearse being sent on ahead. The members of the party rushed in the building and saved many of the children in the room below Mrs. Grant's.

Mrs. Grant on regaining consciousness told the doctors, "I am so happy that I saved so many of the children, and so overcome with grief because I could not save those others."

An overheated stove believed to have caused the fire. The school house was a two story frame building. Authorities say the building should have been condemned as a fire trap more than a year ago and funds had been provided for a new fire proof building. The erection was delayed because of dissenting opinion as to its location.

STATE WARDS TO ENJOY DINNER ON THANKSGIVING

Holiday Will Be Fittingly Celebrated at Dixon Colony.

By tonight there will be a marked depreciation in the flock of chickens at the Dixon state hospital farm, as the result of the raid for this species of poultry for the annual Thanksgiving dinner for the patients and attendants at the institution. Chicken will form the attractive centerpiece in the dining rooms tomorrow with all of the other good things that go toward the furnishing of a true Thanksgiving spread.

Turkey will not be included in this year's menu. The gobbler is reported more scarce than ever, and no attempt has been made to raise a brood of sufficient size to feed the patients and attendants.

The Thanksgiving dinner at the hospital will be served at the noon hour. No efforts will be spared to give the patients a lavish feast and a good time on this holiday. When interviewed yesterday afternoon, Dr. Warren G. Murray, superintendent of the institution made public the following attractive menu which will be spread upon the tables of the hospital dining room at noon tomorrow:

Roast chicken, dressing, giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, candied sweet potatoes, Boston baked beans, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, cheese, olives, sweet pickles, bread, butter, coffee, cream, cigars.

In the afternoon, the patients and attendants as well will gather and enjoy a short program at which time Superintendent Murray will give them a Thanksgiving talk. There will also be a program of songs.

Remains of Former Dixon Girl Here

The remains of Miss Catherine Lally, who passed away at Moline, were brought to Dixon last evening. Funeral services will be conducted from the home of her sister, Mrs. Jerry Maloney, 411 College avenue tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock and from St. Patrick's Catholic church at 9:30. Burial will take place in Oakwood.

INFANT CHILD DIES.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kent of Harmon, passed away at the home of Mrs. Robert Sample on West First street yesterday afternoon. Funeral services which were private were conducted this afternoon and burial took place in Oakwood.

PHIDIAN ART CLUB MET YESTERDAY—

The Phidian Art Club met at the home of Miss Bosworth yesterday afternoon with a very good attendance.
Following the business of the club
Miss Hitchcock introduced Mr. E. E.
Wingert who spoke on "The Main Points of Difference Between the Old and Proposed Constitution of Illinois."

The Phidian members feel most grateful to Mr. Wingert for his able and concise presentation of the "high points" in the important question that comes before the voters Dec. 12th.

Following this interesting discourse
Miss Rogers played "Concert Etude,"
by Chaminade, to the delight of all,
and responded to encore, with McDowell's "Shadow Dance."
Mrs. Steel gave the paper of the afternoon on "Psalms." This beautiful subject was presented in the interesting manner of all Mrs. Steel's papers.
At the conclusion of this splendid program, the guests were invited to the dining room where refreshments were served by Miss Bosworth, assisted by the Misses Rogers. Mrs. L.
D. Dement and Mrs. C. B. Morrison
presided at the tea table.

ST. LUKE'S AUXILIARY HAD MEETING—

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. Luke's church met in regular session Friday afternoon in the Guild rooms of the church, and was well attended.

The meeting opened with hymns and devotional exercises, followed by a brief business meeting.

The program of the afternoon consisted of a talk by Mrs. George Loveland, and was an interesting account of a portion of her travels in the Near East, and a journey with Armenian refugees.

Mrs. Loveland speaks delightfully and her address was much enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Lewman Dement read an appeal, written by a nurse who has recently returned from Smyrna.

$ixty dollars was sent to the Near East Relief society by the members of the Auxiliary earlier in the year.

Mrs. George Hawley was hostess for the afternoon and served delicious refreshments, during the social hour which followed the program.

ENTERTAINED MYSTIC DRILL TEAM WITH OYSTER SUPPER—

Last evening Mr. and Mrs. Ezra M.
Hoover entertained the members of the drill team of the Mystic Workers at their home on the Lincoln Highway west of the city limits. In addition to the members of the team their husbands were invited, also the wife of the captain. The evening was pleasantly spent in games of various kinds. At a seasonable hour Mr. and Mrs. Hoover served an oyster supper to the assembled guests. At a late hour all left for their homes thanking their host and hostess for their kind hospitality. The reason for the supper came from an offer made by Mr. Hoover some time ago that if the team won first prize at the Peoria convention he would tender an oyster supper to them, and last evening
he made good his promise.

U. S. W. V. AND FAMILIES ROYALLY ENTERTAINED—

Last evening in G. A. R. Hall the ladies of the Baldwin Auxiliary, U. S.
W. V., delightfully entertained the members of the United Spanish War Veterans and their families. The invitation had announced that it would be a social evening and it was one, and was thoroughly enjoyed by all fortune-
ate enough to be present.

Cards and music occupied the greater portion of the evening. The Misses Louise Miller, Mary Bales and Catherine Docter contributed musical selections, their piano solos being greatly enjoyed.

After cards and music sampling refreshments were served and after another social hour or so the company dispersed, the members of the U. S.
W. V. and families, declaring the ladies of the Baldwin Auxiliary royal entertainers.

MISS GRAVES RETURNS FROM TOUR WITH QUARTET—

Miss Vivian Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Graves, who has been on a tour with a company of evangelists, and who has been singing with them in the Aeolian Quartet, has returned to Dixon for a brief rest.
They toured Canada, New York and all through the east, becoming very popular every place they sang. Miss

Graves has an especially beautiful soprano voice, high, sweet, clear and sympathetic, much adapted to the evangelistic work she chose in preference to a concert career.

ENTERTAINED AT INN
LAST EVENING—

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Argraves are leaving Dixon today for St. Louis, to make their home. Mr. Argraves has been foreman of the Assembling room at the Brown Shoe Factory and last evening he and his wife entertained
the employees of the assembling room
and a few friends at the Dixon Inn.
Dancing and music were enjoyed during the evening and a luncheon was served later in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. George Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs.
A. M. Stein and Mrs. Harry Kinzie were guests with the girls from the assembling room.

The evening proved one of great enjoyment to all and their friends will regret very much the departure of
Mr. and Mrs. Argraves.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs.
Argraves were presented with two handsome gifts. Best wishes follow them to their home in St. Louis.

CARE OF VELVET—

Since there is in this season such a decided vogue for velvets a serious
part of good grooming lies in frequent use of the dust brush. Velvet clothes should never be put away after wearing without giving them a most careful dusting, and when they are put away they should be carefully covered.
A piece of silk crepe is an excellent duster for velvet costumes when they are not too dusty. Nothing gives a woman a shabby look so effectively as dust on her clothes, and velvet is a most delicate par excellence. Unless a woman is willing to take the pains
she would do better to banish the regal material from her wardrobe in favor of materials that do not catch the dust so or suffer so from a dusty appearance.

GIVEN BIRTHDAY SURPRISE
LAST WEEK—

Mrs. E. G. Brenner was given a birthday surprise last Wednesday evening, which proved a great success.
It seems that she had made the remark that she could not be surprised,
and her sisters, Mrs. W. D. Drew and Mrs. Shelby Cortright proved to her that she was mistaken, for she certainly was greatly surprised. The evening was spent in games and music and a delicious scramble supper was a feature of the pleasant evening. Mrs.
Brenner, beside receiving several handsome gifts received innumerable good wishes for many happy returns of the day.

You will not interrupt the conversation of another, no matter how brilliant the idea which comes into your head.

And you will not, while in the company of others, draw one person aside to indulge in a whispered conversation.

DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET SATURDAY—

The Dixon Woman's club will hold its regular meeting on Saturday, Dec.
2nd, at St. Paul's Lutheran church.
A short business meeting will begin promptly at 2:30. The program which is in charge of the civic department,
will begin at 3 o'clock. Attorney E.
H. Brewster will address the club on "The Proposed New Constitution."

This is to be an open meeting and the public is cordially invited.

GREAT SUCCESS—

The basket social at the Cook school house, west of Dixon on the Rock Island road, attracted a large crowd last evening. The school room was crowded to its capacity and many from Dixon were in attendance. The scholars
under the direction of the teacher,
Miss Leila Wise, presented a playlet entitled, "Taking Father's Place," which was very much enjoyed. The sale of baskets netted a sum of $58.60.

TONIGHT IS CHURCH NIGHT AT M. E. CHURCH—

Tonight is Church Night at the Methodist church.
7:15, Devotional service.
8:00, The following classes will meet:
Egworth League, Bible Study—Miss Bertha Bennett.

Teacher Training—Prof. Lancaster.
The Truth About the Bible—Rev.
Moore.

Everyone is invited.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE—

Among the Albanians, exogamy, or marriage outside the tribe, is the general rule, the Miridite chiefs carrying off by force a woman from one of the neighboring tribes.

The wives of the principal inhabitants of Oroshi have, it is said, all been acquired in this way and, far from resented the circumstance, are proud of it.

They make devoted wives, exceedingly jealous of the husband's honor.

YOUNG PEOPLE GUESTS AT LESLIE HIGLEY HOME—

A number of the young people of East Jordan gathered at the Leslie Higley home near Polo Friday evening,
where they were royally entertained.
The home decorations and the games were along the line of the Thanksgiving season. A happy evening was spent and at a late hour refreshments were served.

CHOIR PRACTICE FRIDAY EVENING—

The choir of St. Paul's church will practice on Friday evening at 7:30.

MISS GLADYS REMMERS PLEASANTLY SURPRISED—

Yesterday a company of fifty friends gathered at the home of Miss Gladys Remmers in Grand Detour and held a very enjoyable surprise for her, from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Miss Remmers will be married in the near future to John Hetler, Jr., and her popularity was verified yesterday by the large number of friends attending the surprise and by the beautiful gifts presented her; they were unusually costly and handsome.

One of the happy features of the afternoon was the presentation to Miss Remmers by Mrs. Tryon Rosbrook of a lovely bouquet of chrysanthemums.
Then Miss Remmers was seated in the center of the rooms and a pretty basket in blue and white, tide with blue and white ribbons was given her and in the basket were many parcels, each parcel a gift. The gifts were beautiful and useful and there were also some gifts provocative of much mer-itment.

The entire afternoon proved one of much enjoyment to all and Miss Remmers received lovely gifts and the best wishes of her many friends.

RACING DEATH

Traffic cops work in the very heart of constant danger. But you rarely,
if ever, hear of a traffic cop being killed or even struck by an auto.

There are two reasons for this.
They are:

First: Every auto driver is more or less afraid of a uniform. He takes mighty good care not to hit the policeman in charge of traffic. Because the driver is cautious, he does not run down the traffic cop.

Second: The traffic cop, in turn, is cautious. He obeys the rules of the road—does not step suddenly into the path of oncoming autos. Being cautious, he escapes injury.

There you have the solution of the auto-accident problem.

In another issue the Telegraph
prints a news story revealing the tremendous toll of auto accidents.

The truth revealed by this story is horrifying—more than 11,000 Americans killed every year by autos and a third are children; in addition, a property loss of at least a billion dol-ars a year.

If all this happened in one gigantic catastrophe—for instance, a town destroyed with 11,000 killed and a billion dollars in property destroyed—
the whole nation would be shocked.
But the auto-toll catastrophe comes bit by bit, a life blotted out or left crippled here, a lone machine wrecked there.

And, because the toll of auto
smashes does come bit by bit instead of all together, drivers and pedestrians lose sight of the fearful toll and lapse into thoughtlessness—carelessness.

In this campaign to curb auto accidents, a campaign now sweeping the whole country, hundreds of suggestions are being made. Many of them will be adopted—stricter traffic regulations, parking rules, erection of additional safety zones, and so on.

All these are helpful, but the toll of auto smash-ups will not—can not—be materially reduced unless the general public keeps in mind this simple rule:

The rule: In every Safety First campaign that ever has been waged,
it has been learned that regulations and automatic safeguards are of little help unless backed by constant personal caution.

The curb for auto accidents is not something mysterious and hitherto undiscovered. What's chiefly needed is: Cautious drivers, taking no dangerous chances. Cautious pedestrians, never risking their lives, constantly on their guard.

A certain percentage of the population chronically is reckless or in a half-trance condition. For them, and for inexperienced children, traffic
must be made as fool-proof as possible. For this purpose, no proposal can be too severe.

LAWING

In 1922 a Chicago man sued another for $500. The case dragged along for 30 years, the litigants spending over $10,000 in appealing to higher courts, or 20 times the amount at stake.

A judge now dismisses the suit unsettled. Both litigants are dead. So is one of the original lawyers. No one is certain what the bone of contention at the start was. Some think, a piano.

Something wrong with legal system
that permits the spending of $10,000
to determine the ownership of $500.

TRAPPED

John Martin, champion hunter employed by Uncle Sam, "works" two months in South Dakota. He kills 35 coyotes and two bobcats, all old and tame. Two-thirds of them bore evidence of having been in traps from which they had escaped, or of having been shot or wounded in the past.

Old and wary animals are hard to trap or shoot, says John.

Experience is valuable, to humans
as much as coyotes and bobcats. But most of us raise a mighty howl while we're acquiring it. Yet getting caught in a small trap usually saves us from a larger trap later—provided we remember and learn.

WHEN YOU SLEEP

Jack Britton, former welterweight champion, offers $10,000 to any one who can make him sleep normally.
He's had insomnia for a year. Many puzzlers have it only in the ring.

"It's nervous trouble," says Britton.
"Training for 20 years has proven too much. While I haven't any particular designs on getting the title back, I figure I can still box a lot if I can get to sleep. If I can't, I'll be forced to quit."

Jack, why don't you try reading
the Congressional Record.

If you have ever tossed at night,
unable to drown this nerve-stabbing
life in deep sleep, you sympathize with Britton.

We spend a third of our lives in bed.

And the incalculable value of sound sleep is realized only by the chronic victim of insomnia.

Do you find, on the average, that your waking life is more delicious than the perfect calm of sleep? Considering the joy with which we close our eyes and rest our weary bodies and tired brains at night, it is a trifle strange how man dreads the final sleep, death.

Sir Basil Thomson, former head of Scotland Yard detectives, has solved many mysteries of crime. None of them was a millionth as mysterious as sleep.

Clapereid had a theory, that nature makes us sleep to prevent us from killing ourselves by exhaustion.

The Coriart school of physicians believes that sleep is simply a relaxation of all muscles, necessary to rid our bodies of poisons accumulated while awake.

A third theory, by Dr. Boris Sidis,
is that monotony is the cause of sleep.
When life no longer is interesting enough to keep us awake, we chloroform ourselves with slumber. If so, we sleep because our subconscious minds get bored at this rather dull life on earth.

It is one of the most baffling enigmas of nature, is sleep. Also, one of the greatest forms of real wealth, or fortune. Dollars and fate lose their lure when natural sleep is denied chronically.

What would you not give to know what happens to your real self when slumber divorces you from the matterial world?

INDIAN

Minnie Atkins, half-blood Creek Indian, wins oil lands worth $4,000,000
in a case decided by the National Supreme Court.

We have been unfair to the Indians robbed them right and left. But we are getting fairer when a descendant of the conquered race can go to court,
claim and get $4,000,000.

In the history of other subject people, there is nothing like it. The Atkins case should help soothe an uneasy national conscience.

MIDDLE-BROW

A new word combination, "middle-brows," is coined by Margaret Slattery, lecturing in Boston. She says the world needs middle-brows rather than unthinking low-brows and intelligent but heartless high-brows.

Margaret is on the right track. The world today needs "heart" rather than intellect. Big problems remain unsolved because they are viewed as intellectual problems when they really are matters of "heart"—tolerance, charity, decency, brotherhood.

FORD

Henry Ford's factories in America turned out 121,765 passenger cars and trucks during October, final check-up shows.

It was Henry's best month on record, and 32,000 cars more than in October, 1921.

Further, it was at a rate of nearly 1,500,000 machines a year—or only 100,000 less than total auto registration in our country in 1916. Today
there are seven times as many cars

DANGER

Pie insurance is the latest. That's the trade name, but the policies protect restaurants and other sellers of foods in general, from damage suits
when the food makes the eaters ill or kills them outright.

Plenty of customers, the insurance people announce. Good reason. A wedding cake, when cut recently in New York, was found to contain a

AN ORDINARY THANKSGIVING

By Berton Braley

We're thankful in a humdrum way,
Without much chattering about it,
That we've a hearty meal today.
We wouldn't care to go without it:
We're thankful for the sheltering roof
Which humdrum labor keeps above us,
And for the friends who've met the proof
Of time and trouble, and who love us.

We're thankful that we still find fun,
Yes, fun that shakes the very rafters,
In just the ordinary run
Of simple jokes and hearty laughter.
Our jokes may be a trifle trite,
And cautious critics might abhor them,
But they give us a rich delight:
Such as they are, we're thankful for them!

We're thankful that the family
Again is gathered here together,
Deep in our hearts we're glad to be Undoubtedly birds of a feather.
We're thankful for our trials past,
Which, maybe, made us stronger, truer,
We're thankful that they didn't last,
And hope, in future, they'll be fewer.

We're thankful that our worldly lot
Is not so bad, and that ambition
Still stirs in us, so we are not Quite satisfied with our condition;
We do not whine, we do not crow,
But each before his heaping plateful
Give thanks, and hopes next year will show
More reasons still for being grateful!

dead rat. It cost the pastry baker $11,000 damages when sued.

Be careful what you eat. Food is the most dangerous thing in civilization, especially when eaten to excess.

MONEY

Money in circulation throughout the country Nov. 1 was $4,470,289,827
—or $44.41 for each man, woman and child.

The money supply influences prices
but only partly. For instance, money in circulation now is over a billion dollars less than a year ago, but prices of commodities are higher.

Cost of living, the country over,
now averages about 56 per cent higher than before the war, though the amount of money in circulation for each of us is only 20 per cent higher.

LETTERS

There's a postoffice now for each 58 square miles of the United States.
Or roughly, a postoffice for each strip of land 10 miles long and nearly six miles wide.

That's a big strip of land. With only one postoffice on it, it reminds you of frontier days. Still, most of us are very close to a postoffice. It emphasizes how we Americans swarm in towns and cities, also how much land there is in the open country for each of us if we cared to live there.

LAND

Another good result of the war is reported from Great Britain, where a third of the 56,000,000 acres of land
has changed hands in three years.

The big lands owners over there tend to lose their holdings. Redistribution of land is the goal of most revolutions. In Britain the revolution is a peaceful one.

Nearly all economic problems are land problems.

FLIGHT OF THE SULTAN

In fleeing to Malta, on a British warship, as a guest of Great Britain,
the sultan explains that he did not abdicate the throne of Turkey, but took precautions for his own safety.
Great Britain probably will justify its courtesy by asserting that he was entitled to asylum.

There is some diplomacy in the move. If the sultan can not return to Turkey, he may go to India and seek to establish there a Moslem caliphate,
despite the fact that the Kemalists
have named a caliph to succeed him.
Should he succeed, it probably would prevent a Mohammedan revolution in revolution in India against Great Britain, and, at the same time confine kemalist influence to Turkish territorial bounds.

GOOD WILL AMONG THE AMERICANS

Central American states have been invited to send delegates to a conference in Washington Dec. 4 to discuss subjects to advance their several and individual welfare. And the idea in mind is that this will be the first step of a movement for friendly accord among the nations of North and South America.

Difference in language should not be a barrier to understanding. Neither should any other secondary differences. There are matters of common interest concerning which the governments and peoples can and should be in agreement. Without friendly relationship it would be foolish if not impossible to maintain the Monroe doctrine or to build up commercial alliances.

The voluminous new trade will be in Central and South America, the Orient and Africa. If our statesmanship and our commerce are guided by shrewd policy, this business should largely be ours.

LENINE BEGGING CAPITAL TO RETURN

Lenine, who started out by banishing capitalists and capital, seems finally to have gotten around to a complete reversal of plan, so that all the bloodshed, misery and change has brought to Russia is a change of causes—from Czar Nicholas to Czar Lenine. Lenine now is crying out to capital to please come back. He says
"Russia is so big and has such wonderful economic possibilities that there is no reason to refuse any fair proposition from interests outside the country. We will make such favorable arrangements that the capitalists will be compelled to do business with us despite their present enmity toward us."

COMPULSORY SAVING PLAN

The Associated Companies, a Kansas public utilities concern, requires its employees to save ten per cent of their salaries. The plan was inaugurated at the beginning of this year.
The management finds that the employees are saving thirteen, to fifteen per cent instead.

All salary-workers ought to save
some part of the pay they receive.
Saving is the nucleus of capital. If we spend all that we get, or put it out in get-rich-quick schemes, then old age has nothing to depend on but continued work. When that is impossible, what?

DEEP WATERS NO. 15

FLEEING THE BATTLE

BY ZOE BECKLEY

Barrett and his daughter rose,
"Yes," said he, laboriously, "I'm your father. But unfortunately that does not give me the wisdom to solve the insoluble. If I thought it would make a better home for you for me to stay on, with your mother feeling toward me as she does, I'd put everything else out of the question.
But Alice you've been wretched at home, I've seen it. If I go, you'll have a better chance at a real home."

The girl stood up, still in a sort of dazed and helpless silence, and moved toward the door as though from a last look at someone she had loved lying dead. It was farewell, ending on a tragic note.

Barrett sprang after her just as the door was closing upon her,
caught her in his arms protectively
—and wistfully.

"Don't condemn me, daughter,
without a trial. When I've gone, you'll see—I was right. You'll understand that our lives were dead
—your mother's and mine. I am not ready to give up life and be nothing more than an old house-robe and slippers! I won't be just a husband
—Oh, the injustice of it! It isn't pure selfishness on my part, Alice.
Your mother—wants me gone."

"I guess—you're right," said Alice in a small voice, drawing from his arms. "You're both right, you and mother. It's me, that's caught—in a trap."

He was unprepared for the quick movement she made. She was out of the room and running like a deer down the stairs before he could reach her. He called; she was out of hearing. He telephoned the switchboard; she had gone.

"Well—she's young," mused Barrett. "Got the Barrett toughness of fiber. Won't go under, whereas for us to go on as we have been would crush her. No. . . One must go forward."

Reaching again for the telephone,
he called a steamship office.

"What's the next boat for Europe?"

"Cedric sails tomorrow."

"Don't want the Cedric. What else?"

"Zealand, sails same day, for Holland."

"Right. Book me a place on it—John Barrett. I'm on my way down to your office now to pay."

JAILED

Is one American in each 660 in jail
all the time? It seems so, according to the "fingers." Census report shows that 163,889 were confined in federal penitentiaries, state prisons county jails and city police stations last July 1. The prison population July 1, 1917, was 140,186.

What is your estimate of the number who are not in jail but should be?

Congressman Winnifred Mason
Huck of Illinois wants to amend the federal constitution so as to prohibit engagement in war except by a popular vote. What would the enemy do while we carried on the campaigning and balloting? What will the world do right away as soon as we so amend our constitution?

Senator France of Maryland, who put his campaign speech on fifty thousand phonograph records, had the foresight to finish it off with "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Maryland, my Maryland."

The United States chamber of commerce predicts that there will be no relief from high rentals for eighteen to thirty-six months. What's the idea of filling us up with such a hope?

Advice is free, plentiful and generally unwise, and worthless, and this is why, unfortunately, we don't take the trouble to appraise it.

A strange feature of Charlie Chaplin's frequent denials of engagement rumors is that they often include the first publication of the rumor.

Secretary Davis denounces a living

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

NEXT JUMPING-JACK

"How should I know anything about an old broom?" he remarked indignantly.

"We must ask Jumping-Jack if he has seen Mother Goose's broom,"
said Nick to Nancy when they had left Snow Man.

So off they ran and found Jumping-Jack when the Twins told him their errand. He jerked his arms and legs until they rattled like clothes-pins. "How should I know anything about a nold broom?" he remarked indignantly.

"You needn't be so disagreeable,"
said Nancy. "You're made of one,
I guess."

"Ah I?" exclaimed Jumping-Jack
in surprise. Honest? I never thought of that before. Well I'd rather be made of something substantial like a broom than be stuffed with sawdust like Teddy Bear or cotton like Rag Doll, or with nothing but wind like the Balloon and the Drum."

"Now you're talking like a sensible person," said Nick. "Did you bridge."

Because autos don't eat oats.
Because phonographs run down.
Because we don't like garlic.
Because trains never run sideways.
Because we don't like rhubarb pie.
Because bathtubs empty themselves.

Because we don't eat tapioca pudding.
Because Christmas is a month away.
Because water never makes you sick.

So, after all, you see how easy it is to be thankful.
If you are not thankful because something is, you can always be thankful because something isn't.

And this reminds us of the man who needed shoes and was thankful
because he was not a centipede.

And the bald man who was thankful he never needed a haircut.
Which reminds us of the man who was broke and was thankful because he had indignation.

And the one with the wart on his finger thankful for the finger.

And the man thankful because he had a tooth to ache.
But above all comes the man who was thankful just because he had sense enough to be thankful.
And that's that, thank goodness.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for him.—Psalm 37:7.

A life without a purpose is a languid drifting thing; every day we ought to review our purpose, saying to ourselves: This day let me make a some-beginning, for what we have hitherto done is naught.—Thomas a Kempis.

TIERNAN'S LATEST WIFE FORMER BRIDE OF STERLING MAN

Blanche Was Once the Wife of Arthur Brimmer, Known Here.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Marshalltown, Ia., Nov. 28.—A. B. Hoover, counsel for Mrs. Blanche Hawn Rash Brimmer, wife for a day of Prof. John T. Tiernan, of South Bend, Ind., today announced his opinion that Mrs. Brimmer and not Mrs. Augusta Tiernan would be entitled to the dower interest in the former professor's estate despite the fact the instructor's divorce decree was vacated shortly after the second ceremony.

He also said it was his opinion that Arthur Brimmer, Mrs. Brimmer's former husband, no longer was a figure in the quadrangle because he was married at the time he married Mrs. Tiernan.

Attorney Hoover said his client will maintain a policy of watchful waiting, permitting Prof. Tiernan to take the initiative.

The Sterling Gazette publishes a story to the effect that Blanche Hawn Brimmer Tiernan, wife No. 2 of Prof. Tiernan, was formerly the wife of a Sterling man and the couple were known in Dixon. The Gazette says.

The marriage and divorce entanglements of Prof. John T. Tiernan of South Bend, Indiana, has been given local color by the information that the college professor's "mail order bride," Mrs. Tiernan No. 2, was the former wife of Arthur H. Brimmer, son of Mrs. Isaac Brimmer, who resided at 544 Second avenue, Sterling, prior to moving to Clinton, Iowa, about a year ago.

Mrs. Tiernan No. 2, the ex-wife of the former Sterling man, was Blanche Hawn of Hanks, Iowa, and according to her attorney, A. B. Hoover, of Chicago, she was married to Brimmer in Oskaloosa, Iowa, in September, 1919. Attorney Hoover is authority for the statement that Brimmer was married to another woman at the time of his marriage to Blanche and that she divorced him in March, 1920. Under the Iowa law it is claimed that Brimmer's marriage to her was legal.

The much heralded case of the Tiernans has attracted countrywide attention. The first step of the many entanglements came when Mrs. Tiernan No. 1 accused Harry Poulin, a South Bend, Indiana, haberdasher, of the paternity of her baby. The sensational evidence of the trial was still fresh in the memory when announcement was made that Prof. Tiernan had been granted a divorce from his wife. The divorce was granted on Thursday and on Saturday, two days later, he was married to Blanche Brimmer of Hanks, Iowa, at Crown Point, Indiana. When Mrs. Tiernan No. 1 learned of her recent husband's re-marriage, she was indignant, flew into a rage and declared she had been double-crossed. She declared that the divorce from her was obtained by her husband as a result of an agreement they made to stop the public from talking and it was agreed that they would remarry some day and start married life anew.

Marriage Ruled Illegal
Mrs. Tiernan No. 1, stated, she knew that her husband had corresponded with a girl named "Blanche" but had no idea that he would marry.

PYORRHEA

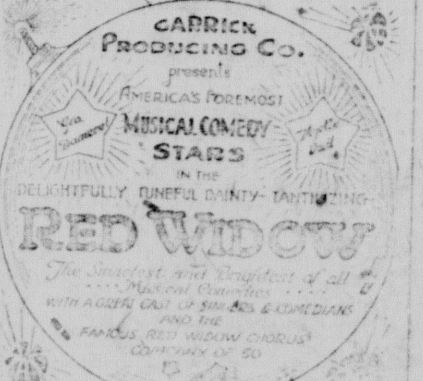

Try this New Treatment
for Pyorrhea, Bleeding, Receding Gums with Loose Teeth—at Our Expense.

Broad minded doctors and dentists who have given MOAVA DENTAL CREAM—a highly concentrated formula for the treatment of Pyorrhea—a trial are astonished at the rapid results obtained.

It seems almost unbelievable but it is a fact nevertheless that a few treatments over a period of one or two days makes the gums feel better and reduces the soreness. Use faithfully for one week a decided improvement is seen. Continue for a few weeks until the gums are healthy, the spongy and soreness all gone and the teeth are firm and immovable.

All druggists who sell MOAVA TOOTH PASTE are authorized to return the purchase price to anyone who cannot see a decided improvement after its use. Public Drug & Book Co. can supply you.—Ad.

DIXON THEATER TONIGHT Nov. 29

Kiwanians Heard About Boy Scouts at Tuesday's Meet

Dixon Kiwanians listened to one of the most interesting talks that has been given in the history of the local club yesterday, following the regular weekly lunch and business meeting. "The Boy Scout Movement" was the subject of the talk which was given by Rev. G. Carlton Story, pastor of St. Luke's church. The subject was handled to the absolute satisfaction of every one of the half hundred men who were present and listened attentively to the instructive address.

Rev. Story has for many years been a leader in the Boy Scout movement and since coming to Dixon, has organized and is at the head of a small troop of boys. He explained the oath, law and practical work of the movement internationally, giving in a clear and concise manner, the requirements of the boy who enrolls in a troop, the benefits to be derived through the teachings and the clean life that would result from such an affiliation.

During the lunch hour, five minutes talks were given by Prof. I. H. Potter and A. E. Conrad of this city. President John B. Conrad announced the personnel of the special committee selected by him to cooperate with the Y. M. C. A. boys' band and to select uniforms, which was as follows: Ray S. Kline, chairman; W. H. Strong, William F. Hogan, E. R. Oxnam, I. B. Potter, Earl Kennedy and O. M. Rogers.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED
Chicago, Nov. 28.—Miss William Hamby of Freeport, Illinois, before her marriage was secretary to Judge Oscar E. Heard and she wrote a letter to which her husband, James B. Hamby, an automobile salesman, today obtained a divorce. The was presented to Judge Harry B. Miller, who granted the decree.

The letter read in part: "To whom it may concern: I have decided to sever my marriage ties with J. B. Hamby for the following reasons:

"In the first place I have not the affection for him that a woman should have for her husband."

Mrs. Hamby then proceeded to say that caring for her husband was distasteful and marriage interfered with her religious beliefs, but added that her husband was in no way to blame and that he "has done his best to fulfill the duties of a loving husband."

THE WOMAN OF POISE
Once a rarity, is now to be observed and admired upon every hand. Indeed, no other woman can flourish long in the midst of this modern, complicated life. In the home, in business, in social life the woman who is serene and confident wins, while the nervous, flustered individual wastes her talents and gets nowhere. Of course, poise is dependent mainly upon sound health and steady nerves. If you feel that you are being kept back in this way, why not turn to that great woman's remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which was manufactured from a thorough understanding of the nervous system of women.—Adv.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH
Bellefonte, Ill., Nov. 28.—Miss Marie Herbt, 31 a school teacher, was burned to death today in a garage in the rear of her home. The corner is investigating. The local fire department salvaged an automobile, but did not know the woman was in the garage until the fire was extinguished. Cause of the fire has not been determined. Relatives said Miss Herbt had been in failing health.

LEFT BIG ESTATE.
Peoria, Ill., Nov. 28.—An estate valued at $300,000 is listed in the will of the late Loren N. Gallup, Peoria county farmer which was admitted to probate today. The estate is one of the largest disclosed in probate here in many months. The widow will receive $40,000 in cash and a 160-acre farm in Peoria county, Iowa. Mr. Gallup died Nov. 7, at his home. A son and daughter share.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Marshalltown, Ia., Nov. 28.—"I'm beginning to lose faith in Mr. Tiernan. I'm beginning to waver, but I'm still depending on his honesty and promises to me," said Mrs. Blanche Hawn-Rash-Brimmer-Tiernan today at the home of Everett Rash, father of Floyd Rash, the woman's first husband.

The statement came as a surprise following Mrs. Tiernan's declaration yesterday that she had heard from Tiernan and he would be here Wednesday.

THE GIRL IN THE PICTURE

Begin Here Today

M. JONQUILLE, greatest of French detectives, in this unusual story of the great criminal at bay—discovered in a luxurious English country house where he is dying of a disease which has already paralyzed the lower part of his body.

But even in the moment of success, M. Jonquille senses that he has been beaten. The great criminal, wanted for a bond theft in England, tells how he went to America and at Bar Harbor met the beautiful American girl. Although a criminal, his sense of decency was outraged when he saw that a disheveled Englishman.

WESTRIDGE, was attempting to marry her for her money.

M. Jonquille told him that he was an old friend of the girl's father and that he knew the girl must have been deceived by the curricula which she has foolishly bought on margin. The criminal tells how he produced the security for a loan which Westridge raised and then gave to him to turn over to the girl.

CHAPTER III

THE afternoon sun lay on the terrace of the gray stone house, where the big creature, dead to the middle, talked from his chair, clearing the mystery that had covered his disappearance from the world. It was an extraordinary story, and I wished to get it, in detail, precisely clear.

"It was fiction," I asked, "this explanation to Westridge?"

He looked at me in a sort of wonder. "Sure," he said, "I made it up."

"There wasn't any of it true?"

"Not a word," he answered. "Don't you understand?"

"This was a little game that me and God Almighty was settin' up on the side."

"You knew nothing of the girl's affairs?" The thing seemed incredible to me.

"That's right," he replied, "not a thing, except that her father, a lawyer in the South, was dead, and the small coin was beginning to mean something—an of course the little game of this Westridge person—it was a blind pool; nobody in on it but God Almighty."

I could not forbear a comment.

"He seems to have helped you in the opening."

The big creature turned heavily toward me.

"With little Westridge?" There was deep irony in his voice.

"I didn't need any help to handle him. That was A B C stuff. The big trouble was ahead."

"With the girl?" the query escaped me.

"No," he replied, "that was my job too. You listen. I'm comin' to it."

"I looked out for a chance to get the girl by herself, an' about four o'clock I got it. There had been a fog in; it cleared a little and she went for a walk. She took the path along the sea toward Cromwell's Harbor and I followed her. She turned back when the path ends at the harbor, and just before a big house, that hadn't been opened that season, I met her."

"I stopped in the path?"

"Missie," I said, "could I speak to you a minute?"

"There was no sham business about her. She was clean and straight and afraid of nothin', like an angel of God."

"Certainly," she said. "What is it, sir?"

The big man moved his loose bulk in the chair.

"I know something about stories," he said. "I've had to make 'em up so a jury would believe 'em, an' I done my best as I limped along by her."

"I ain't always been rich," I said. "I was down an' out in the eighties, an' I was agoin' to do somethin'."

that would have ruined me, when by God's luck I met Harry in Louisville. I'd heard the old women call her father Harry, so I had that much to go on.

"Al," he says, "what's the trouble?"

"I suppose it was in my face. I was broke down an' I told him. He got it all in his head, an' then he put me on the shoulder."

"Old man," he said, "a little money ain't goin' to do you any good. I'll give you fifty thousand dollars an' you go out to the race-course this afternoon an' pick a winner."

"I tried to turn it down. I didn't want to lose his money; I didn't know one horse from another. But he just laughed and kept putting me on the back."

"A beginner for luck," he says. "Where's your nerve, Al?"

Well, I picked that big Durham colt that nobody had ever heard of, a five-to-one shot, an' he romped in."

"I was alimpin' along the sea."

"The energy came back for an instant into his voice," he replied, "that the Governor-General of Canada summoned all the victims to meet with him for a conference in Montreal."

At this moment I caught the sound of a motor entering the gates at some distance through the park. The huge paralytic also heard it, and his attention was no longer toward me. It was on the great colored limousine drawing up at the end of the avenue of ancient beech-trees.

I looked with him.

A girl helped out by footmen stepped down into the avenue, carpeted now with the yellow Autumn leaves. Even at the distance it was impossible to mistake her; her charm, her beauty, were the wonder of England. And on the instant, as in a flash of the eye, I recalled the painted picture hanging in a great house in Berkeley Square, the picture from which this creature's mutilated photograph had been taken, the picture of a young girl, in an ancient chair, with no ornament but a bit of jade on a cord about her neck.

"It's the young Duchess of Hurlingham," I said.

The big creature beside me was struggling to rise, his voice in an excited flutter.

"Sure," he said, "God Almighty didn't throw me down. When she went up to that conference in Montreal, he had young Hurlingham on the spot—fine, straight, clean youngster as ever was born. It was love her at sight; an' now—he made a great gesture as though to include something without a visible limit—"she's got all these places in England, an' all that Standard Oil money that belonged to his mother's people."

The girl, radiant as a vision, was advancing on the carpet of golden beech-leaves, and I hastened to put a final query, the thing I had come here to find out. I had given up the idea of an arrest. The man was dying.

"What did you do with the registered bonds that you got when you cracked the vault of the British Embassy in Washington the night before you went to Bar Harbor? They had Lord Dovedale's name on them, and they could not be negotiated."

The whole sagging body of the unsteady creature strained toward the advancing vision as toward an idol. His voice reached me, uttering as with fatigue.

"That's the stuff I put up with Westridge for the loan—go and take it away from him!"

A startling story of mystery and horror, "The Thing on the Hearth," will begin in our next issue.

"But what should I do with the money?" she said.

path, aproppin' the gravel with my cane an' atakin' to my feet, same as if I was afraid the recollection would get away with me if I wasn't careful. The girl didn't say nothin' and I went on.

"Harry wouldn't touch the winnings; he picked out his fifty thousand and put me out of the room."

"I limped on, talking to my feet."

"And it saved me two ways, for the thing I was agoin' to do would have ruined me."

"My voice got down pretty near in a whisper."

"I never saw Harry after that," I says, "until last night."

"She stopped quick, an' I went on a step or two."

"My father?" she said.

"Yes," I says, "not looking up. Harry, just as he looked that morning in Louisville—only he was troubled."

"Then I turned on her like I was makin' a clean breast of it. I had the tears startin' and the right choke-up, an' it wasn't all jary done. I didn't want that heavenly angel fouled over by little Westridge. It balled the heart out of me."

"Now, Missie," I said, "you've got to help me even this thing up. I don't know nothin' about your affairs—I don't want to know. But you've got to take that same bunch of money and chance it on some thing."

"She shook her head, and I had a bad hour. All along that sea-path, with the fog dodging in and out, I kept right at her; I never lost a step. I was old and rich; money was nothin' to me."

"But what should I do with the money?" she said, finally, in a sort of queer hesitation.

"I'll tell you that tonight," I answered. "The huge creature seemed to relax, as though there had been a vital tension in the mere memory of the thing."

"That cleaned up my end of it," he continued, "and after dinner when it was getting a little dark, I limped over to the church. I had the last copy of the Financial Register in my hand. I stopped in the door. The church was closed and it was dark, but I didn't need any light for the business I come on."

"Governor," I says, "the rest of this job's up to you. I'm agoin' to open this magazine here in the dark and the first thing that's advertised at the top of the page on the right hand side is the thing I'm agoin' to say."

I says, "go to it" and I folded back the page and went over to the hotel."

Again he paused.

"I got a jolt when I saw the page. It was some sort of Canadian gold mine, so fishy that the letters had scales on 'em. But I says to my self, 'That's the Governor's business, an' I cut it out, put it into an envelope with the draft, and left it at the desk for her.'"

He paused.

"The next morning I slid out. Eight months later the plague struck me. I crippled into England, asked her to hide me while I died, and she put me here."

"And the gold stock," I said. "I suppose it turned her out a fortune?"

URGES ADOPTION OF NEW CONSTITUTION; IS BETTER THAN OLD

President of Convention Explains Merits of Document.

Charles E. Woodward of Ottawa, president of the Constitutional convention, believes the people of the state of Illinois will do themselves a grave injustice if they fail to adopt the new constitution at the election to be held Tuesday, December 12.

"The voters must choose between the new and the old," he said. "The question is whether or not to propose a constitution shall be accepted or rejected. There is no third course. If accepted it becomes the supreme law of the state on and after January 15, 1923. If rejected, we continue to live under our present constitution."

"The two documents must be compared. Which is the better? Which is better adapted to conditions—the new or the old?"

Principal Provisions

"Space does not permit an extended discussion of the new constitution. Its principal points may be briefly summarized."

"The representation of Cook county in the general assembly is restricted. The country counties will always have two-thirds of the senate, Cook county can never exceed one-third. The state will be divided into 153 representative districts, the districts having as nearly as possible an equal number of citizens. One representative will be elected from each district. Cook county can never control legislation. It is best for the state and best for Cook county that this limitation should be adopted. It is promotive of stability in government and good order in society. If this restriction is not now adopted Cook county, in a few years, will control both houses of the general assembly. Other states which have large centers of population have found it necessary to restrict representation. No small area should dictate the policies of the entire state."

Abolish Cumulative Voting

"By electing members of the house of representatives from representative districts, cumulative voting, or the 'plumping' system, is abolished. This system has outlived its usefulness. It was never adopted in any other state. Its continuance was not even urged upon the constitutional convention. Representative districts will be small. The candidates will be known. If one man is put up against another man in small representative districts the standard of legislation will be materially improved."

Growing out of the restriction of Cook county's representation, and as compensation for restriction, home rule for Chicago is provided for. Chicago is now in a condition of dependence upon the general assembly. The state has been required to shoulder problems local to Chicago. The new constitution allows Chicago to write its own ticket on local affairs. The downstate is intensely interested in this provision. The general assembly will be relieved from consideration for problems peculiarly local to Chicago. For the protection of the state as a whole, a veto power is reserved to the legislature."

Tax Reform

"Provision is made for future tax reform. Under the constitution of 1870 the legislature is restricted to the general property tax; its hands are tied. The general property tax has broken down under modern economic conditions; it is not fitted to a commercial state; its injustice and inequality are admitted. The new document simply allows the general assembly to diversify taxation and more justly and equitably to distribute its burdens. A tax on the income from intangible property—notes, stocks, bonds, etc.—may be substituted for a tax by value on such property. A general income tax may be enacted from which reasonable exemptions are allowed. It may be graduated and progressive, but the highest rate cannot exceed three and set-offs to prohibit double taxation or provided for. The additional provisions are not self-executing. The legislature may, or may not, in its wisdom, avail itself of the extension of power authorized. If it should do so it would not mean additional taxes. It would mean distributing of the tax burden more fairly. The experience of all commercial states has demonstrated the wisdom of diversification.

Courts Function More Freely

"The judiciary is made to function more expeditiously. Expense and failure of justice are proverbial. This is because power has been withheld from judges. The new document vests the rule-making power in the Supreme court. This is neither new nor radical. It has been exercised by the United States Supreme court from the foundation of the government in admiralty and bankruptcy cases, and recently it has been extended to include equity cases. The exercise of this power, its wisdom has been demonstrated. The Supreme court is not given any power to enact substantive law, but is merely vested with power to define the procedure in courts. This power will do much to bring about the speedy administration of justice at reduced expense."

Improves Legislative Methods

"Appropriation methods are reformed. One hundred sixty million dollars of the one hundred seventy millions appropriated by the last session of the general assembly were appropriated during the last two legislative days. Scandals have grown out of this practice. The people have been given no opportunity to consider or criticize expenditures. Under the new document every bill appropriating public moneys must be printed and distributed three legislative days before a final vote is taken."

County government may be changed by law, provided the law is approved by the people of the county.

"The administration of the criminal law is improved. We have adopted the provision of the Federal Constitution with reference to bail—"excessive bail shall not be required." The same constitutional law prevails in the states of Massachusetts and New York, which, by reason of their great centers of population, have problems similar to our own. Civic organizations, public officials and judges of our courts told the convention that the provision of our present constitution guaranteeing bail in all but capital cases, promotes crime and creates disrespect for law. Hardened criminals must be released to continue their depredations. The new constitution puts the matter of bail up to the sound judicial discretion of the courts. Neither is this new nor radical. It is the law in many states. The state's attorney, by leave of court after a showing of probable cause, may file an information in all but capital cases. The accused, except in capital cases, may elect whether he will be tried by the court or by a jury. The criminal laws may be enforced more certainly and more speedily.

Father and Son in Nebraska Legislature

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 28.—A father and son for the first time in Nebraska history will serve in the Nebraska legislature when it convenes at Lincoln next Jan. 2.

Both were elected at the November 7 election. The father, Lewis G. Yochum, of Ashland, will represent the 30th representative district in the lower house, while his son, Charles L. Yochum, of Ashland, will represent the 5th.

Both are democrats and practical farmers.

Although the republicans won a majority in both the upper and lower houses of the legislature they were among the successful democrats who will serve, despite the fact that it was their first venture in politics.

Neither has thus far outlined any definite plans for legislation they will favor, although both have let it be known they will favor "any good progressive policies" which do not entail too much expense to the state.

The elder Yochum, 58, was born at Morristown, O. He came to Nebraska when 21, and located at Brock, Neb., where he worked out by the month until he accumulated enough to start farming. Later he moved to what is known as the Yont farm north of Brock, where he farmed extensively until 1916, when he moved to his present home in Ashland. He has a farm of 456 acres and two sets of improvements which have been built during the last six years and are modern in every respect.

Charles Yochum was born at Brock in Nemaha county 32 years ago and at present lives on the Yont estate which he took over after his father moved to Ashland. He is a graduate of the Auburn High School and the University of Nebraska in 1914 where he took an Arts and Science course. He, like his father, is engaged in farming and livestock raising. He manages 400 acres of the Yont estate. Last year his wheat crop totalled 4512 bushels.

FARMERS TO HEAR "TIGER." Chicago, Nov. 28.—George Clemenceau, war premier of France, who is telling American audiences his opinions of international relations, will talk about the American farms on Dec. 11, when he will address the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Chicago, the federation announced today.

M. Clemenceau will speak on "the farmer as a world citizen" and is expected to give his ideas of how the American farmer can develop better markets in Europe for American food supplies.

WHAT DOES AMERICA NEED?

Telegraph Readers Are Going to Tell the World.

Ever since the war, Americans have sensed unrest throughout the country—orderly unrest, but nevertheless unsettled conditions, uncertainty, everywhere.

Try to analyze the cause. Every person will give you a reason—but each reason will be different. We all feel something is needed—but not meeting, construction, business enterprises, new industries are being delayed by this uncertainty just at the time when the world looks to America to take the lead in reconstruction.

To thoroughly analyze this mass of conflicting beliefs and find out just what the country really thinks about it, the Telegraph, in co-operation with several hundred other representative newspapers, clients of NEA Service, will conduct a national poll on the question: "WHAT DOES AMERICA NEED?" Through letters from newspaper readers all over the country, a constructive, comprehensive survey of opinion will be made.

What do YOU think America needs? Write your opinion, discussing any matters you may think connected with the present national situation. Send your letters to EDITOR, EVENING TELEGRAPH. After they are published in the Telegraph these letters will be sent on to the NEA Service for listing in the national compilation, results of which will be carried in this newspaper.

Write your letters on one side of the paper only. Sign your name and address. Letters must not be longer than 200 words.

Mary MacSwiney is Released from Jail

Dublin, Nov. 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Miss Mary MacSwiney, who was released from Mount Joy prison last night, the twenty-third day of her hunger strike, met her sister Annie in a private hospital yesterday evening. Annie, weakened by fasting for several days outside the prison gates, collapsed when she saw her sister, but quickly recovered and was taken to another hospital on a stretcher.

The order for Mary MacSwiney's release was issued by the provisional government. She was removed in a Red-Cross ambulance. She was very weak when removed.

Clemenceau Explains Eggsactly His Diet

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Georges Clemenceau's secret of longevity, with a retention of vitality and endurance that would tax the energies of a man of half his 81 years, is eggs.

He ate eight of them, soft boiled, for his supper last night. Before retiring he asked for five more soft boiled eggs for breakfast at 5:30 this morning.

"I am not so very tired" he said, "but I have to keep to my schedule, to bed at 8 and up at 5. I go to bed and get up with the chickens. That is why eggs form my principal diet."
